Traditional Chinese Feng Shui (Chinese Geomancy) to be Applied as World Cultural Heritage by Japanese

In 2006, Japanese had made application of “Traditional Chinese Feng Shui (Chinese Geomancy) as World Cultural Heritage (世界文化遺產) in the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) (聯合國教科文組織). It is so pity that the traditional wisdom of “Feng Shui”, as originated in Mainland China, has always been treated as “Superstition” and its value is being denied by modern Chinese people.

It is remembered that the Korean has successfully made application of the traditional Chinese Culture “Dragon Boat Festival (端午節) as World Cultural Heritage (世界文化遺產) in the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) (聯合國教科文組織). Following that the Korean will pursue the next target of “Mid-autumn Festival (中秋節) in the same manner.

As descendants of our glorious Chinese Ancestors, every Chinese should promote the genuine knowledge and wisdom of Chinese Feng Shui to the rest of the world. We should defend and sustain its value by promoting Feng Shui to gain international popularity and acceptance.
